

SCRAPBOOKING

one month at a time

with Tami Taylor

March

A few facts (from Wikipedia.org):

- March was once the first month of the year. Now it's third. Any thing in your life that used to come first and has now slipped down the priority list? Maybe now is a time to share that in a layout.
- March has the first day of spring in it. Spring, the season of new beginnings, rebirths and regrowth. Anything new going on in your life?
- March has a lot of references to Mars, the God of War. It's name comes from Mars, the Ides of March was a festive day dedicated to the god Mars until it became more famous as the day Julius Caesar was killed. The deepest betrayal was that his friend Marcus Brutus. It's not the funnest of things to document but scrapbooking can be healing. If you've ever been betrayed, perhaps it's time to get the story told (even if the journaling is hidden) and let go of the past.

Did you know?

March's birthstone is the aquamarine. Aquamarine is blue in color and can be found in the united states near a few mountains, though the largest that was ever mined was from Brazil. It weight about 240 pounds! This month I'd like to challenge you to find some blue. Look at the blues in your life, blue skies, blue flowers, blue cars, whatever is blue try to capture it in a photo.

By the Numbers:

Layouts finished: _____

Green Eggs Eaten: _____

Green Layouts: _____

Good Lucks Given: _____

Birthday cards sent: _____

Photos taken: _____

MARCH favorites

moment: _____

activity: _____

event: _____

thing: _____